Thank You to Our Nation's Teachers

The Australian Council of State School Organisations today formally recognises and thanks the teachers across Australia in our nation's fabulous and fully inclusive Public Schools. International Teachers' Day on the 26th of October is an opportunity to celebrate the work of our teachers.

"Every day, we as parents entrust our children to the care of their teachers as they journey through their school education. Teachers are a significant partner, with parents, in the development of our young people as we work together to enrich their knowledge and experiences," stated Phillip Spratt, President of the Australian Council of State School Organisations.

"Teachers play a pivotal role in helping our young people to be the best they can be. As dedicated professionals their care and influence can and does have a life-long effect on those that they teach"

"We recognise that highly skilled teachers are critical for providing quality education. Through their daily work, teachers make a huge contribution to developing students' capacity and desire to learn." Mr Spratt concluded

It is most fitting that a day is set aside to recognise their significant contribution to our children, to our families and our society.

The Australian Council of State School Organisations would like to thank teachers for the wonderful work that they do for our children within the public education system.
